PRODUCES.

Address to his soldiers.

Soldiers of the 42,79th, and 90,01d Highland Briggard, with whom I passed the early and perillous part of this war, I have to take leave of possibilities of Orders in a few hours I shall be on heart ship nerve to see you ugain—a long farewell! I am now old and shall not be called to serve any more, and nothing will remain to me but the memory of my campaigns, and of the ending, hardy, and generous soldiers with whom I have been associated, whose name and glory will long be kept alive in the hearty bay will consume two four countrymen. When you go home, as you gradier will be pale to in the hearth of our countrymen. When you go home, as you gradup thill your term of service each to his family and his cottage, you will tell the story of your immortal advance in that victorious celebon up the heights of Alma, and of the old brigadier who led and loved you so well.

Your children and childen's children will repeat the tale to other generations, when only a few lines of history will remain to record the disciplent. Your children and childen's children will repeat the tale to other generations, when only a few lines of hi-tory will tremain to record the discipline and enthusiasm which have home you so stoudy to the end of the war. Our native lund will never forget the name of the Highland Brigade, and in some future war, that nation will call for another one equal to this, which it can never suppass. Though I shall be gone, the thenghis of you will be with me wherever I may be, and cheer my old age with a glotious recollection of dangers altionted and landships endured. A pipe will hever sound near me without carrying me hack to those bright days when I was at you head, and wone the bonnet you gained for me, and the homorable distinctions on my breast, many of which I owe to your concuer, brave soldiers, and kind comades. William Lawis Daytos, was been on the 17th of February, 1867. He was graduated at the College of New Jersey, in 1825. He made choice of the legal profession, but want of health prevented his being admitted to the bar until five years latter, in 1820. He studied with Governor Froom, one of the first lawyers of the country. In 1835 he was chosen a member of the Senate, and indominable persistence, he urged through the Senate, against the most for middle opposition, a law for working the gold mines, which settled one of the most difficult practical questions in the world, and settled it for the hencit of free labor. Congress, urged by powerful speculators both in and out of California, was much inclined to manage the mines of New Jersey, though Monmouth Conuty, in which he resided, was a strong Democratic place, and Mr. Dayton was a thorough-going Whig. and Mr. Dayton was a thorough-going Whig .- slaves.

St. Louis, June 28. St. Lotis, June 28.

By steamer Edinburgh from Missouri River we learn that the Star of the West with the Chicago company of Kansas emigrants, was boarded on her arrival at Weston, by a party of men who arrested the entire company, and intended to excert them back the same way they came, instead of letting them enter the Territory. Unter intelligence says the Star of the West is on her return, and will find the Chicagolans at Alcon to night. They are under the guard of a ton to night. They are under the guard of a parly of Carolinians. (This is a free country is Stephens:—I do not accept it.

Washburn of Me. said Stephens' proposition was a side blow to kill the Kansas bill. Stephens expressed his desire that the latter be teterred to the committee of the whole on the state of the Union. He vindicated the Kansas-Nebraska act and condemned the movements of the northern people to thwart the policy of the measure.

The bill was further discussed by several members, when Mr. Grow moved the previous question, which was sustained. 98 to 65, and the main question ordered as the first business for Monday. Adjourned.
